NOTES TO

Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association.

P R E F A C E .

THE facts connected with the inception and development of this Association have often been told. Such persons as may desire to learn the entire details, and in the order of their occurrence, can easily find the material in print. In 1852 a history of the Association from 1795 to that time was printed, written by Joseph T. Buckingham, an Ex-President of the Association, a journalist of national repute, and a man especially qualified for the work. Later he wrote a supplement bringing the history down to 1860. In 1892 the Association published a history of the intervening years, in continuation of Buckingham's "Annals," bringing it down to that date. All that is needed at this time and in this place, therefore, is very briefly to state a few of the salient points in our Association's history. But in order to estimate fairly the value and importance of the work begun in 1795, the reader should bear in mind the fact that at that time the conditions obtaining in every department of social, business, or corporate life were wholly unlike those with which we are familiar. Then the old-time apprenticeship system was in operation. Every master mechanic had been developed by an apprenticeship of several years' duration, under the daily instruction and control of a master mechanic in his chosen trade. When such a master mechanic employed a force of workmen, and carried on his business in a definite locality, supplying the general demand for his wares, he became a "manufacturer." In our time a "manufacturer" is one who owns stock in some incorporated manufacturing company, although he may never have performed a single day's labor. Now a master mechanic does not of necessity possess a knowledge of his business derived from years of manual labor as an apprentice in his trade.

In 1795 we had no railroads, no steamboats, no telegraphs, nor any of the large number of present appliances for facilitating the transaction of business and the comfort and convenience of the people. But at that time among the master mechanics of Boston, who in themselves constituted a very important and influential element in controlling public opinion, there were some who realized that, in keeping with the old adage "in union there is strength," an organization which should enable those master mechanics to combine their influence would be productive of better and more lasting results than would come from individual efforts. A wish to make the laws respecting apprentices more stringent was the occasion for the first meeting. One of the noted headquarters of the "Liberty Boys," composed largely of master mechanics of Boston, was the "Green Dragon Tavern," a wooden building of unpretending appearance, standing on the westerly side of Union street, a short distance northerly from Hanover street. In cuts of this noted house, the figure of a dragon, carved in wood, is seen over the main entrance. Here all the preliminary meetings were held, Paul Revere being the chairman. The prominence attained by Mr. Revere, in connection with his eminent services before and during the war of the Revolution, then but recently terminated, together with his exceptional skill as a mechanic, and experience with public men and measures, pointed him out as the man to lead the new movement. Consequently on the organization of the Association he was elected its President. The evidence shows that the formal organization took place on the 15th day of March. and the first election of officers on the 16th of April, 1795. Its primary objects as stated in the first constitution adopted were: "To create and sustain a friendly feeling among its associates; to extend the circle of individual usefulness; to encourage industry, and promote inventions and improvements in the mechanic arts; to provide for the instruction of apprentices, and assist young mechanics with loans of money; to help the aged and unfortunate of the associates, and the widows of deceased members in poverty and suffering; and to provide for the burial of its deceased members by gifts deemed sufficient to defray the expenses of an unostentatious ceremony."

Eighty-three men signed the original articles of agreement, and are recorded as "original members." One point of considerable interest to our younger members is in the names of the occupations of some of these men. Those engaged in the construction of buildings of brick were termed "bricklayers," and not "masons," who were layers of stonework; "housewrights," now known as carpenters, were the most numerous of any single trade. The term "shoemaker" had not come into use, but they had "cordwainers" instead. In that day the "pewterers" made the tableware then common, but which disappeared on the advent of silver-plated ware. Paul Revere was the first to sign the Constitution, specifying his occupation as that of a "goldsmith." This trade he learned of his father, but Paul himself was also a self-taught designer, engraver, and copper and brass founder. The "Columbian Centinel," established and edited by Benjamin Russell, an original member and the third President, contains in an issue a few years later the following advertisement:

"PAUL REVERE AND SON

Have for sale at their Bell and Cannon Foundry, north part of Boston, English, American, and Hamburg Sheet Copper, English and American composition sheathing nails, copper bolts, spikes, nails, dovetails and clinch rings of all sizes. Church and Ship Bells from 50 to 1300 lbs weight. They cast all kinds of brass ordnance, Ship and mill work in the best manner, and at the shortest notice. Cash and the highest price for copper and brass."

The Revere Copper Company, a well-known concern in this city at this time, is an outgrowth of the sagacity and enterprise of Paul Revere. The man who, if not the equal, certainly next to Paul Revere, the most efficient and valuable to our Association was Benjamin Russell, already alluded to. Indeed, but for his will and energy exercised continuously from 1795 until his final retirement from office in 1824, it is somewhat questionable whether the Association would have grown to the proportions reached. In the early years the custom in regard to the meetings of the government was to meet in turn at the houses of the members, when a supper was often provided, and the social element contributed not a little to the success of the Association. At an early period donations of money were made to unfortunate mechanics, the first case being that of a man not a member of the Association. In 1812 the Committee of Relief was established, and this custom has been followed continuously since. During this time we have paid to our beneficiaries $143,700 to the close of the year 1894, besides paying the funeral benefit to a large number of families; aggregating in amount probably about one-half as much as the sum paid to beneficiaries. In certain lines of activity, formerly pursued by the Association, an entire change has taken place. For many years we paid about $1,000 annually to support evening schools for apprentices. Our own Library and that of the Mechanic Apprentices' Library Association called for an expenditure of about $800 yearly. Our lectures, open to the public, cost about $600 a year. These public gratuitous services were appreciated, and contributed essentially to our popularity and success. But in the evolution of the customs of the times, they have each and all entirely ceased. For some years, however, we have been contributors to the support of schools of manual training and technical trades schools. From the smallest beginnings our exhibitions have grown to large proportions. Had it not been for the income derived from them, we never could have accumulated our present property, for the amount paid by members, in the form of admission fees and annual dues, in no single year has been sufficient to pay our charities.

Our present building was erected in 1881. At first and for several years the income from it was comparatively small. As the city has grown, however, the territory in our neighborhood now being almost wholly covered with a fine class of residences, the income, as will be seen from the Treasurer's reports, assumes respectable proportions. We have every reason to believe that it will gradually increase. It would seem, therefore, that in entering upon its second hundred years of existence, the promise of growth and usefulness for this Association is greater than ever before. On an average, we have published a revised code of By-Laws once in about eight years. This edition is the thirteenth. In the edition printed in 1879 were given the names of members from the beginning. All the names, however, were not given. In the early years of the Association, certain members, for reasons satisfactory to themselves, attached themselves to other similar organizations, in a sense the rivals to our own. For this their names seem to have been dropped, and they were treated as if they had never been members. In this edition, however, the name of every man of whom there is sufficient evidence that he was at some time a member is included. .

PREAMBLE.

It is universally admitted that the combined operations of the MECHANIC POWERS have been the source of those useful inventions and scientific arts which have given to polished society its wealth, conveniences, respectability, and defence, and which have ameliorated the condition of its citizens. Rational, then, is the inference that the association of those who conduct those powers in their operations will prove highly beneficial in promoting mutual good offices and fellowship; in assisting the necessitous, encouraging the ingenious, and in rewarding fidelity. To effect these desirable ends, the present associates agree to be governed, as a society, by the following

BY - LAWS.

ARTICLE I.

NAME AND QUALIFICATIONS.

SECTION 1. The name of this Association, as specified in the act of incorporation, shall be the "MASSACHUSETTS CHARITABLE MECHANIC ASSOCIATION."

SECTION 2. This Association shall consist of master mechanics, manufacturers, and those engaged in or connected in business with the mechanical arts, or those skilled in some branch or department of practical science allied to the mechanical or manufacturing industries.

SECTION 3. The officers of this Association shall be a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, and twelve Trustees, who shall constitute and be denominated the "Government of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association."

ARTICLE II.

CONDITIONS OF MEMBERSHIP.

SECTION 1. A person to become a member must be not less than twenty-one years of age, a citizen of the United States, a resident of this Commonwealth, of good moral character, in good health, be proposed by a member, be approved by the Government, receive two-thirds of the votes of the members present and voting at a regular meeting of the Association, his name as a candidate being printed on the notices of such meeting, and within one year thereafter pay his admission fee, and subscribe his name to the By-Laws. All candidates for membership may be voted for on one ticket, unless the meeting shall otherwise determine, and the name of any candidate erased shall be counted as a vote against such candidate.

SECTION 2. The fee for admission shall be Twenty-five Dollars. Each member shall be subject to an annual assessment of two dollars, FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR, not including the year in which he joined the Association, payable BEFORE APRIL first.

SECTION 3. Members who have been such for twenty-five years [uninterruptedly] and have paid all assessments, shall be considered life-members. Any member who has paid all assessments may become a life-member at any time on the payment in one sum of an amount equal to two dollars per year for the unexpired portion of the term of twenty-five years, dating from the time of his admission. Life-members shall be exempt from the annual assessments, but shall be subject to all By-Laws of the Association and to all special assessments. When a member not indebted to this Association shall tender his resignation of membership in writing, the Secretary is directed to accept such resignation, and to remove his name from the roll of members, and all such acceptances shall be reported to the Board of Government at the next meeting thereafter, and entered upon the records.

SECTION 4. On and after the first day of January, A.D. 1896, and on and after the first day of each calendar year thereafter, any member who shall be in arrears for his annual dues to this Association for two years or more, shall thereupon without further notice or action cease to be a member of this Association, and the Secretary is hereby directed to remove the name of any member so in arrears, from the list of members, and to report the same to the Board of Government at its next meeting. The Board of Government shall cause the fact to be entered upon its record, and a notice to be sent to the offending member. In case any member so dropped shall, within one year from that time, pay to this Association the amount of his delinquency, together with the sum of one dollar as reinstatement fee, his name shall be restored to the list of members with the consent of the Board of Government.

SECTION 5. Such persons of distinction as the Government shall, from time to time, recommend and approve, may be admitted Honorary Members, by a vote of two-thirds of the members present at any regular meeting; they shall not be entitled to any of the pecuniary, elective, or controlling privileges of the Association, and shall be exempt from all assessments.

SECTION 6. Every person becoming a member shall be entitled to a certificate of his membership and a copy of the By-Laws.

SECTION 7. Upon the death of a member there shall be due to his widow in her own right the sum of seventy-five dollars, provided said member shall have joined this Association prior to the 18th day of July, 1894; but if there be no widow, then the same sum shall be due to the estate of the deceased, in all cases first deducting therefrom his indebtedness to the Association. If the widow, executor, or administrator do not call for said sum within one year from the decease of the member, then the Treasurer shall pay the same into the Charity Fund of the Association in the name of the deceased member, and all such payments shall be reported in detail by the President in his next annual address.

SECTION 8. There shall be established and maintained a Charity Fund, of which Levi L. Wilcutt, Charles Whittier, and Erastus B. Badger, or their successors, shall be Trustees; and all donations to this Association, not otherwise especially set apart for specific purposes by their donors, shall be paid into this fund; the income only of which shall be expended, and that only in maintaining the charitable work of the Association as now or hereafter may be provided by the By-Laws. The donations as received, if not already invested in the bonds of this Association dated May 1, 1885, and secured by a mortgage made by the Association of the same date to the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Co., and also the proceeds of any such bonds belonging to this fund when paid, shall be invested by the Trustees in such securities as are prescribed for the savings-banks of the Commonwealth.

In case of a vacancy in the Board of Trustees of the Charity Fund, however caused, the same may be filled at the next regular meeting of the Association. Any Trustee may be discharged at any regular meeting of the Association by a vote of three-fourths of the members present and voting, provided that notice of such proposed action is contained in the printed notices for such meeting. The Trustees shall be members of the Association, and any Trustee who shall resign his membership in, or be legally discharged from, the Association shall thereupon cease to be a Trustee. The Trustees shall report the condition of their trust at each annual meeting of the Association, their accounts having first been audited by a committee of the Government, consisting of not less than two members.

ARTICLE III.

MEETINGS.

SECTION 1. The regular meetings of the Association shall be held on the third Wednesdays in January, April, July, and October, at such time and place in Boston as the President shall direct. But, should circumstances occur to render it expedient, the President, with the concurrence of the Government, may call a meeting on a prior or subsequent day.

SECTION 2. The meetings of the Government shall be held at such time and place as they may direct.

SECTION 3. Special meetings of the Association shall be called by the President whenever a majority of the Government shall deem it expedient, and whenever an application therefor shall be made by twenty members, in writing.

SECTION 4. Printed notices of all regular and special meetings of the Association shall be sent by mail, or otherwise, at least three days before the date of the meeting, to the last known address of each member.

SECTION 5. The Association year shall be held to begin on the first day of January, and close on the thirty-first day of December; and all financial and other transactions, records, and reports, shall correspond thereto.

SECTION 6. Unless otherwise determined by vote of the Association or Board of Government, the Committee on Library shall arrange for one social meeting of the members of the Association, annually, to be held in our building in the month of December; the exercises to consist of one or more addresses, music, a collation, or such other exercises as may seem best to the committee.

ARTICLE IV.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AND COMMITTEE OF RELIEF.

SECTION 1. The election of officers and Committee of Relief shall be at the annual meeting on the third Wednesday of January, by written votes, a majority making a choice. In case the Association shall fail to elect all or either of its officers on the aforesaid day, the meeting may be adjourned from time to time until such election is completed; provided, however, that not more than ten days shall intervene from one adjournment to another.

The full term of the several elective officers and Committee of Relief shall be as follows: That of President, Vice-President, Trustees, and Committee of Relief, three years each; that of Treasurer and Secretary, one year each, to be elected as follows:

At the annual meeting on the third Wednesday of January, A.D. 1895, the President and Vice-President shall be elected for one year each; and at the annual meeting on the third Wednesday of January, A.D. 1896, and triennially thereafter, the President and Vice-President shall be elected for a term of three years each.

At the annual meeting on the third Wednesday of January, A.D. 1895, four Trustees and three members of the Committee of Relief shall be elected for one year; four Trustees and three members of the Committee of Relief shall be elected for two years; and four Trustees and three members of the Committee of Relief shall be elected for three years; and at each annual meeting thereafter, four Trustees and three members of the Committee on Relief shall be elected for a term of three years each.

In case of any vacancy, a successor to fill out the unexpired term shall be elected at the next meeting of the Association, notice of the same being borne upon the printed call for the meeting.

SECTION 2. The same person shall not be eligible to the office of President, Vice-President, Trustee, or member of the Committee of Relief more than three years successively; but if first elected to fill a vacancy caused by death or resignation, the fraction of the term shall not be considered in this limitation.

SECTION 3. In case the Association, at any meeting, shall vote to hold an Exhibition of Industry, Skill, and Art during the year then next ensuing, the call for the meeting containing a notice of the same, the Board of Government, in matters pertaining solely to the contemplated Exhibition, shall constitute a Board of Managers, who shall have full and exclusive jurisdiction and control of all its affairs, with power to make all needful rules and regulations for the conduct of the Exhibition. If he shall so elect, the President may appoint from members of the Association, — subject to confirmation by the Board of Managers, — seven Associate Trustees to assist in the management of the Exhibition. In case the Board of Managers shall also constitute such Associate Trustees members of the Board of Managers, and confer upon them the right to vote upon questions pertaining exclusively to the Exhibition, as they are hereby authorized to do, nine members shall constitute a quorum of the combined Board. The Treasurer of the Association shall also be the Treasurer of the Exhibition, but he shall keep separate books of account, and the funds of the Exhibition shall be kept distinct from the ordinary funds of the Association, until otherwise ordered by the Board of Managers.

ARTICLE V.

SECTION 2. In the absence or disability of the President, the Vice-President shall perform all the duties pertaining to that office. In the absence of the President and Vice-President, a President pro tempore shall be chosen to preside.

SECTION 3. The Treasurer shall be intrusted with all the property of the Association not otherwise provided for. He shall, with the advice or consent of the Committee on Finance, from time to time, invest and dispose of the funds in such manner as may be deemed most beneficial. He shall report annually the receipts and expenditures of the Association, and the amount and species of property remaining in his care. He shall pay no money without authority therefor from the Committee on Finance; his accounts shall at all times be subject to their inspection, and annually a careful examination of all his accounts shall be made and their correctness attested on his books by the Committee on Finance. He shall give such a bond, with securities, for the faithful discharge of his trust, as shall be required by the Government, and his compensation shall be fixed by that Board.

SECTION 4. The Secretary shall keep a fair and correct record of the proceedings at all meetings of the Association and Government. He shall issue all notifications for the meetings of the Association, Government, or committees; and in the notifications to the Association he shall state the object of the meeting, and any special business proposed to be acted upon. He shall furnish the chairman of each committee with the vote of his appointment, and act as clerk to committees whenever required. He shall notify each candidate of his admission within ten days thereafter. He shall notify each member of his dues to the Association. He shall collect the fees of admission, assessments, and other dues from members, and pay the same to the Treasurer quarterly, taking his receipt for the amount paid. He shall keep a correct list of the members, and from time to time report to the Government the names of those who are delinquent in paying the dues to the Association. He shall also keep a correct list of all members deceased or discharged during each year, a copy of which he shall furnish to the Committee of Relief. He shall report to the Association at the annual meeting the total number of members at the beginning of the past calendar year, number of new members, deaths, resignations, and discharges during the year, showing the number of members at the commencement of the present calendar year, and how many of them are life members. He shall report the number of meetings held by the Board of Government and Committee of Relief, during the year, and the average attendance at the same. He shall act as clerk of the Committee of Relief, and keep a complete list of the beneficiaries, and a detailed account of the receipts and disbursements of the several members of the Committee. He shall report the names and location of organizations similar to our own, with whom our Association is in correspondence, and the number of Honorary Members of this Association. As soon as he receives notice of the death of a member, he shall notify the Treasurer of the fact, stating the indebtedness of the member, if any, and he shall forward to the family of the deceased member a copy of the by-law providing for the payment of a funeral benefit. He shall insert in one or more daily newspapers a notice of the time and place of the funeral, when feasible. He shall prepare brief biographical notices of all deceased members for our Annual Report. He shall exhibit to the Committee on Finance, annually, a statement of his receipts and payments, with the vouchers, and his accounts shall at all times be open to their inspection; and he shall receive such compensation for his services as the Government may deem proper. The Government may require him to give a bond for the faithful performance of his duty.

ARTICLE VI.

COMMON SEAL.

The Association shall have a common seal, which shall be in the care of the Secretary, and which shall be affixed to all the official documents and certificates which require the signature of the President.

ARTICLE VII.

GOVERNMENT.

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the Government to superintend the prudential affairs of the Association, and pursue such measures as, in their judgment, will tend to promote its best interests, respectability, and prosperity. They shall have the power to expend a sum of money, not exceeding ten thousand dollars in any one year, whenever they shall deem it for the interest of the Association to do so; and they are hereby authorized to draw on the Treasurer of the Association for the same. They may correspond with other associations of mechanics and manufacturers, on such subjects as are calculated to promote the general objects of this institution, and shall submit such correspondence to the Association, for the information of its members. They shall have power to remit arrearages to unfortunate members, and they may report to the Association, annually, all remittances made by them during the year. They shall examine and approve the record of their several meetings during each quarter, and this record may be read at the regular meeting of the Association. They shall, annually, at their first meeting after the election of officers, appoint a Committee on Finance, consisting of the President (who shall be Chairman ex officio), the Vice-President, and three Trustees, the latter to be chosen by written votes. They shall have power to appoint such ministerial and clerical officers as they may deem necessary, and fix their compensation. The President shall appoint three Standing Committees, of five members each, who shall serve until the appointment of their successors, namely: A Committee on Building, of which the President and the Vice-President shall be members ex officio; and three members of the Association, as follows: At the first meeting of the Board of Government elected on the third Wednesday of January, A.D. 1895, the President shall appoint one member for one year, one member for two years, and one member for three years; and annually thereafter, one member only shall be appointed for three years, excepting to fill a vacancy; a Committee on Library, of which the Vice-President shall be Chairman; and a Committee on Delinquents.

SECTION 2. The Government shall make a report in print, to be sent to the members of the Association, with the report of the annual meeting — the report to comprise an abstract of the Treasurer's report, statement of property, indebtedness, and insurance, and such other information relating to the present condition and future plans and prospects of the Association as may be deemed of interest or importance to the members. All appropriations for current expenses, and for the Committee of Relief, shall be determined and voted by the Association at the annual meeting, and the expenditures shall be limited to the appropriation, or to such additional amounts as the Association may vote at any meeting, notice thereof being given to the members in the notification of the meeting.

SECTION 3. No member of the Government shall be personally interested in any pecuniary transaction to which the Association is a party in interest, unless authorized by a vote of the Association, or the unanimous consent of the Board of Government.

SECTION 4. At each monthly meeting of the Government all itemized bills for merchandise account against the Association which have been rendered since the last meeting, shall be laid before the Board for the information of the members; and unless disapproved by vote, the President is authorized to approve and send the same to the Treasurer for payment.

ARTICLE VIII.

COMMITTEES.

SECTION 1. The Committee of Relief shall consist of nine members, of which five will constitute a quorum.

SECTION 2. It shall be the duty of the Committee of Relief, on application, to extend aid to such indigent members of this Association, or their families, as may be proper objects of charity, and to receive and act on all petitions for relief. They shall draw upon the Treasurer of the Association for such sums as they may determine by vote, from month to month, are required for payments to beneficiaries. They shall draw the funds for the January payments before the close of the fiscal year. They shall make a written report of their doings, and lay the same before the Association at the annual meeting in January, omitting, however, the names of the beneficiaries. They shall recommend such an appropriation as they may deem necessary to carry out the objects of the Committee for the ensuing year. They shall elect one of their number as Chairman. The Secretary shall keep a record of all the names of the beneficiaries, together with the amount individually received by each from month to month, and such other records as the Committee may determine. The Committee shall submit all their records and accounts to the Board of Government, when desired. The account of receipts and disbursements of each member of the Committee, and of the Secretary, shall be audited by the Finance Committee of the Association, prior to the annual meeting.

SECTION 3. The Committee of Finance shall examine the expenditures of the Association submitted to them for inspection, and, if found correct, approve the same; they shall advise with the Treasurer respecting the investment of funds, and shall have the general oversight of the fiscal concerns of the Association. They shall examine the records and accounts of the Treasurer, Secretary, and Committee of Relief, at the close of the year, and if deemed by them advisable, they may report a statement of the property of the Association previous to the election of officers.

SECTION 4. A Committee on Nominations shall be chosen by ballot or otherwise at the quarterly meeting in October, whose duty it shall be to select one candidate for each elective office, and the Secretary shall forward a list of such candidates selected to each member of the Association, at least one week anterior to the annual meeting. Said Committee shall organize by the election of a Chairman and Secretary, and each candidate shall be notified of his nomination, and his acceptance be received, before presenting his name to the Association.

SECTION 5. The Committee on Building shall have charge of the real estate of the Association, with power to let or lease such portion as they may deem expedient, except when the same is required by the Association for exhibition purposes. The leases for any term over thirty days, excepting for storage purposes, shall be submitted to the Government for approval. The basement may be used for the storage of such merchandise as will not increase the insurance risk or rate. They shall have authority to make ordinary repairs; but in case the cost of any particular item of repairs is estimated to exceed two hundred dollars, it shall first be submitted to the Government for approval. The Committee on Library shall have the care and custody of the organ, all the books and printed reports, bookcases, apparatus, statuary, pictures and paintings, the "Franklin Press," and all other mementos belonging to this Association. The Committee on Delinquents shall from time to time examine the list of delinquent members referred to them by the Government, or submitted to them by the Secretary, and report in detail to the Government such action under Section 4, Article II., of the By-Laws as they may deem for the interest of the Association.

ARTICLE IX.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

SECTION 1. Beneficence, and the promotion of the industrial arts, are the main objects of this Association; and to effect these, such appropriations shall be made as may be consistent with its funds.

SECTION 2. As it is compatible with the act of incorporation and the good of society, the Association may, from time to time, when the state of its finances will warrant, encourage and promote inventions and improvements in the arts, by exhibitions, and the granting of such premiums, for ingenuity and superior workmanship, as the Government shall deem expedient.

SECTION 3. To reward industry, fidelity, and correct habits, the Association decrees that when any young persons, graduates of any established school of mechanic arts, or other industrial institution engaged in the work of teaching to young people a practical knowledge of any mechanical trade or calling, shall produce a certificate from the principal of such mechanical school, certifying that they have behaved with fidelity and attention; that they have made such progress in the theory and practice of the particular branch of mechanics in which they have been instructed as will enable them to perform such work in a thorough and workmanlike manner, and have not violated any agreement made by them, the Government may direct that such persons be furnished with a certificate sealed with the seal of the Association, signed by the President and Vice-President and attested by the Secretary, which certificate shall be in the following terms :

To all who shall see these presents, Greeting: Whereas _____, of _____, hath presented to us the certificate of _____ of _____, setting forth that the said _____ hath duly discharged the duties and fulfilled his engagements as a faithful student in the above-named institution, pursuing the branch of study devoted to the theory and practice of the trade of _____, in which he has become reasonably proficient, and that he recommends him as worthy the countenance of the Association: Therefore,

We, the President and Vice-President, in behalf of said Association, do grant him this certificate of our approbation; and do recommend him to the notice, encouragement, protection, and patronage of all persons in all countries where he may sojourn.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of our Association to be attached to these presents, and signed the same, this _____ day of _____, in the year of our Lord _____, and in _____ year of our institution.

_____, President.

_____, Vice-President.

Attest: _____, Secretary.

When any persons who have served a regular apprenticeship, at any mechanical trade, shall produce a certificate from their employers of the character above referred to, the Government may direct that a certificate of the tenor above described be issued to them, signed and sealed as above set forth.

SECTION 4. The Government shall have power at any meeting, by a unanimous vote of the members present, on written complaint of any member of the Association, to expel any member who shall be adjudged guilty of ungentlemanlike or dishonorable conduct; provided that the complaint shall first have been investigated and reported sustained by a committee of the Board appointed by the President for that purpose; and that the offending member shall have the right, either in person or by counsel, to present to the Board a written or verbal statement, giving his version of the alleged facts in the case, together with any evidence which the Board may consider pertinent; but the member so expelled may appeal to the Association at any time within one year from such expulsion, the fact that such appeal will be made being borne on the notices for the meeting; and the member may be reinstated by vote of three-fourths of the members present and voting upon the question.

SECTION 5. There shall be an appropriate standard for the Association, to be borne in general processions.

ARTICLE X.

RULES OF ORDER.

SECTION 1. At all the meetings of the Association or Government the members shall be called to order within five minutes after the time named in the notification for the meeting, provided a quorum is present; to form which, seven members shall be necessary in the Government, and twenty-five in the Association.

SECTION 2. The presiding officer shall have power, and it shall be his duty, to regulate the deliberative proceedings of the Association and Government agreeably to legislative usage as laid down in Cushing's Manual.

SECTION 3. No subject foreign to the purposes of the Association shall be introduced at any of its meetings for business.

ARTICLE XI.

AMENDMENT OR REPEAL OF THE BY-LAWS.

SECTION 1.
